Michael Deane

Vice President & Chief Sustainability Officer

Michael Deane is Vice President and Chief Sustainability Officer at Turner Construction Company and a LEED Fellow. His responsibilities include developing and implementing sustainable policies and procedures for Turner's national and international operations, green building training, operational oversight and sales.

Michael has an MS in Historic Preservation from Columbia University and 25 years of construction management experience including K-12 schools, libraries, cultural institutions and hospitality. He is a founding board member and past chair of the USGBC New York Chapter and served on the USGBC National Board of Directors from 2005 through 2008. He was a member of the Federal GSA Green Building Advisory Committee from 2011 to 2016. He is on the Board of Governors of the Design Futures Council and the Board of Directors of the Recycling Certification Institute. In 2012 he was named Recycler of the Year by the Construction & Demolition Recycling Association.

Michael writes and speaks frequently about sustainability and in particular the builder's role in delivering green buildings. In 2013 Michael was named a LEED Fellow, the most prestigious designation of LEED Professionals.
