
Terry Homma Director General of Portfolio and Asset Management

Terry Homma is the Director General of Portfolio and Asset Management at the Real Property Services of Public Services and Procurement Canada. He has in his 25 year career in government provided leadership in the delivery of key initiatives to bring forth change in Real Property. Terry's portfolio offers a full line of real property services to 98 Federal government clients and is custodian of a wide variety of real property holdings, including office space crown owned inventory of 364 locations for a total of 3.M m², and 1,226 lease space for a total of 3.2M m². Our portfolio houses more than 257,000 public servants in Canada.

Some other key initiatives include, supporting Service Management; implementing the Integrity Framework for Real Property transactions; administration of the Federal Homelessness Program and lead on a sustainable land, building and people approach to government real property holdings. Terry continues to lead the implementation in Acquisitions and Complex Real Estate transactions and Real Property advisory services. Terry is proud of the success his sector has achieved to date and attributes that success to strong partnerships with other government departments, real estate industries and associations.
